The summer internship program at the Villanova University School of Law is designed to give law students the opportunity to gain practical experience in different areas of law. The program provides a chance for students to work in small law firms, public defender offices, or corporate legal departments. Students are rotated throughout the summer to ensure they get a well-rounded experience.

The program includes a variety of legal tasks, such as research, writing, and client interactions. Students work under the supervision of experienced attorneys and gain valuable experience in various legal fields. The Villanova University School of Law is committed to providing a meaningful and rewarding summer internship experience for its students.
From The Dean’s Desk

As I See It... By HAROLD GILL RISCHLEIN

As has been its practice during the last several years, THE VILLANOVA DOCKET resumed publication in September with its familiar “Welcome Aboard!” edition. This is a valuable means of acquainting incoming students with the School of Accounting students with the School of Accounting this year. We opened with a student body numbering 411. In other words, our overall enrollment is just about identical with last year’s.

This year’s first year class numbered 177 as against 172 entering the previous year. In the present first year class, sixty-one different colleges and universities are represented. Thirty-three percent are non-Pennsylvanians. Happily, all our faculty are with us again this year. Prima Vista is serving as a visiting professor at the University of Nottingham in England. We are delighted to have a visiting professor here at Villanova. Professor David Harris of Nottingham who is teaching one section of Criminal Law, Public International Law and a seminar on Criminal Law. Our band professor has joined us. Professor Howard L. Lurie, who has had a broad experience as a Trial Attorney for the Federal Trade Commission, is teaching one section of Tort and will offer a course in Unfair Competition, and a seminar in Administrative Law.

The working drawings for the very extensive addition to Garey Hall are now virtually complete and we expect to begin actual construction during this academic year. We are excited about this. When the addition is completed, we shall have one of the very finest law school physical plants in the United States. Let me tell you something about the enlarged Garey Hall.

Our floor space will just about be double that in the present location. This will enable us to enlarge the present library wing and the classroom wing will be extended and a new wing paralleling the present central wing of Garey Hall will be constructed so that we shall have, when completed, a quadrangle surrounding a beautiful garden. What is now the upper parking area will become the enclosed garden. As a matter of fact, the Class of 1968 has made a generous gift to be used for the equipment and beautification of the garden.

In the structure which will parallel the central portion of our present building will be a number of seminar rooms, additional faculty offices, quarters for various research projects and adequate new quarters for student activities such as Moot Court, The Student Bar, The Honor Board, the InterClub Council and THE VILLANOVA DOCKET. There will also be offices for the Villanova Law Alumni Association.

The present reading room of the Law Library will be expanded to double its present size. Stack space for books will also be greatly expanded. Perhaps more exciting, are the changes in reading room arrangement and the far more effective and attractive use of reading space which the “new” library will create. A great many individual study carrels will be provided. THE VILLANOVA LAW REVIEW will be housed in the Library wing, to the great advantage of the Review.

In the enlarged classroom wing, we shall have two new large classrooms each seating approximately 200 students. These rooms are designed to enable us to combine the two rooms to form one large auditorium. In this wing, we shall also have an attractive and commodious cafeteria, so constructed that it can be readily converted into an attractive dining room for occasional “sit-down” dinners. The new dining facilities will eliminate the need for the present kitchen and cafeteria which now are being used for the present occasion. This will enable us to enlarge the present student lounge to double its present size so as to form a magnificent step-down Commons Room. A gift for the furnishing of the new Commons Room is in hand.

From The Deans Desk

Annual Giving Campaign

Nears Successful Conclusion

Here-ee-ee they come! So chants Edwin (Ed) W. Scott ’63, Chairman of the 1968 Annual Giving Campaign. “They” are the alumni who for one good reason or another have not been responsive to their classmates’ solicitations in their contributions during the final days of the 1968 campaign. But “they” have been contacted, as well as those who for one good reason or another have not been responsive to the solicitation efforts — 78% of our graduates for the Spring semester have contributed. Ed proposes to wrap up the campaign by the close of this month. By then, with the cooperation of those alumni who have not yet been contacted, the awaited goal of matching, and hopefully surpassing, last year’s 88% alumni participation will be realised.

Ed explained that considerable difficulty is encountered annually in attempts to communicate with members of last year’s graduating class. This is readily understandable in view of the transient state of our student body. But, when we think in terms of those recent graduates who have not yet found the time to make a contribution, we understand the importance of an appeal to this year's overall picture. The fact that this past May’s graduating class was the largest in our short history accounts for the amplification of the difficulty experienced in reaching all of our alumni.

Ed is visibly optimistic that those who haven't as yet been contacted, will be as those who for one good reason or another have not been responsive to the solicitation efforts, matched by those of our alumni who for one good reason or another have been responsive thus far. We are particularly interested in their contributions during the final days of the 1968 campaign. Each gift is important and Ed is optimistic that “they” will be heard.

He is visibly optimistic that those who have yet to respond, those who have been matched, especially in view of the fact that the construction of an annex to Law School Residence, contemplated in the budget proposals at the present time, would benefit the accused indigent, rather than indigent, poor in both criminal and civil cases, providing the poor with legal representation. gd51a

The break between abstract words and the hard facts of trial life may be bridged early in the Spring by a Saturday program for student seminar here in the spring. The Villanova seminar, to be open to all law students, seeks as its object the implementation of a scheme for law students to participate actively in the Pennsylvania Bar system. Such a program is not unique. Over a dozen states, either by law or by court rule, are presently affording clinical experiences which will be a Saturday program featuring guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops, capped by an afternoon session. The Spring Symposium will be open to all law school students and the public at large.

The break between abstract words and the hard facts of trial life may be bridged early in the Spring by a Saturday program for student seminar here in the spring. The Villanova seminar, to be open to all law students, seeks as its object the implementation of a scheme for law students to participate actively in the Pennsylvania Bar system. Such a program is not unique. Over a dozen states, either by law or by court rule, are presently affording clinical experiences which will be a Saturday program featuring guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops, capped by an afternoon session. The Spring Symposium will be open to all law school students and the public at large.

The break between abstract words and the hard facts of trial life may be bridged early in the Spring by a Saturday program for student seminar here in the spring. The Villanova seminar, to be open to all law students, seeks as its object the implementation of a scheme for law students to participate actively in the Pennsylvania Bar system. Such a program is not unique. Over a dozen states, either by law or by court rule, are presently affording clinical experiences which will be a Saturday program featuring guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops, capped by an afternoon session. The Villanova seminar, to be open to all law students, seeks as its object the implementation of a scheme for law students to participate actively in the Pennsylvania Bar system. Such a program is not unique. Over a dozen states, either by law or by court rule, are presently affording clinical experiences which will be a Saturday program featuring guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops, capped by an afternoon session. The Spring Symposium will be open to all law school students and the public at large.

The break between abstract words and the hard facts of trial life may be bridged early in the Spring by a Saturday program for student seminar here in the spring. The Villanova seminar, to be open to all law students, seeks as its object the implementation of a scheme for law students to participate actively in the Pennsylvania Bar system. Such a program is not unique. Over a dozen states, either by law or by court rule, are presently affording clinical experiences which will be a Saturday program featuring guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops, capped by an afternoon session. The Spring Symposium will be open to all law school students and the public at large.

The break between abstract words and the hard facts of trial life may be bridged early in the Spring by a Saturday program for student seminar here in the spring. The Villanova seminar, to be open to all law students, seeks as its object the implementation of a scheme for law students to participate actively in the Pennsylvania Bar system. Such a program is not unique. Over a dozen states, either by law or by court rule, are presently affording clinical experiences which will be a Saturday program featuring guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops, capped by an afternoon session. The Spring Symposium will be open to all law school students and the public at large.

The break between abstract words and the hard facts of trial life may be bridged early in the Spring by a Saturday program for student seminar here in the spring. The Villanova seminar, to be open to all law students, seeks as its object the implementation of a scheme for law students to participate actively in the Pennsylvania Bar system. Such a program is not unique. Over a dozen states, either by law or by court rule, are presently affording clinical experiences which will be a Saturday program featuring guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops, capped by an afternoon session. The Spring Symposium will be open to all law school students and the public at large.
Students Participate
In Poverty Law Program

Villanova Community Legal Services, a volunteer poverty law program, began last year — its second year of operation — with twenty-five students under the faculty supervision of Prof. Peter Brown, a member of the Philadelphia C.L.S. Board of Trustees. These students each worked a minimum of four hours a week in a poverty law agency, either Community Legal Services, Inc., in Philadelphia or the Delaware County Bar Association. The students volunteered their time in order to gain practical working experiences as a law reform movement.
From Mass., Chief Justice Traynor lounge where champagne punch guaranteed the success of this year's orientation program.

This year no such subsidization was moderated by Prof. O'Brien, addressing the students who wish to attend, and it was expressed that the legal needs of the students be met. Subsequent to a short address by each member of the Forum Committee, which has been proceeding at a steady, if somewhat tardy, pace, has sent invitations to U. S. Senator Brooke Kenna for their generous contribution of the legal writing requirement of the SBA, and that they be better supported to warrant holding the affairs, if it be more than already provided.

The SBA loan fund is available for use by all members in good standing of the SBA. Loans are dispensed without interest in amounts up to $50.00 in accordance with the terms enumerated on the bulletin board. Dick Mitchell, representative of the second year, has assumed responsibility for control and distribution. Another function of the SBA this year is the student Directory, which contains addresses, and telephone numbers of all students, listed alphabetically by class. The Directory will soon be released.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.

The Inter-Club Council held its annual meeting, the term of office for its president, Friday, October 4. The publicity was good; there was live music and of course, a dance, along with the presence of female students recruited from the various other student organizations.